STILL HERE

*I've been scarred and battered.
My hopes the wind done scattered.
Snow has friz me, sun has baked me.
Looks like between 'em
They done tried to make me
Stop laughin', stop lovin', stop livin'—
But I don't care!
I'm still here!*

Langston Hughes

INTRODUCTION

The Minority Student Caucus and the Student Union Board of the School of Public Health at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are presenting the sixth in a series of conferences focusing on the unique and special concerns of minority peoples.

This year's conference is entitled "THE MINORITY ELDERLY—WE'RE STILL HERE" and will focus on three major areas of concern: Health Status, Health Care Delivery and Socio-Political Environment.

The purpose of this year's conference is to develop an awareness of some of the problems confronting the minority aged, and stimulate creative thinking in the direction of possible solutions to these problems. Please help us evaluate this conference by completing the questionnaire enclosed in your registration packet and returning it to any member of the Conference Planning Committee.
